As a former Victoria's Secret Angel, she makes a showstopping appearance wherever she goes.

And Wednesday was no different for Karolina Kurkova who hosted the official opening of luxury British jewellery brand Monica Vinader's boutique in New York City.

The 32-year-old Czech model was a ray of sunshine in a bright yellow Lela Rose lace dress as she attended the exclusive affair.  +8

The Vogue cover girl flaunted her impeccable figure in the skintight number by designer Lela Rose from her Spring 2017 collection.

Her feminine frock included a sheer lace neckline, sleeves and hemline which showcased the stunner's lengthy legs.

She stepped out in a pair of gold stilettos which added extra height to her already statuesque 5ft 11in frame.
